

FEWS news: issue 4, 2019

Dear Delft-FEWS user,

The new interactive FEWS portal, which was presented at the Delft-FEWS User Days, is now available for the FEWS community 24/7 with news articles, interesting blogs and information about future events.

Following the FEWS portal, this FEWS newsletter, which has served as the primary source of FEWS news during the past 3 years, has evolved into your notification, presenting a summary of the latest updates on the portal.

- In this edition, there is news from the moderator team, the Delft-FEWS User Days and a new cooperation between Deltares and Floodtags. Bas Stengs introduces himself as new Regional Content Coordinator of the portal.
- Enjoy blogs from the Delft Software Days team in South-East Asia and from our presenters at the Delft-FEWS User Days in November at Deltares. Did you know that presentations and photos of past events can be viewed on the event page?
- Highlighted: on the developments page, there is information on the 2019 wflow release.
- To be expected: news from FEWS Product Management and updated FEWS course materials. And of course more news from the community. We invite you as a community member to log in and collaborate with us on the FEWS portal. The community page is available with a blog functionality, and new ideas or best practices can also be uploaded. The forum is there for your technical questions and short community updates. Let's meet online!

Contact: fews-moderators@deltares.nl for all questions related to the Delft-FEWS portal.

Best regards,

The Delft-FEWS moderators
